

Legal

The website www.cyberinsurance.org.in is maintained by Na.Vijayashankar, a Techno Legal Information Assurance Consultant.

The website does not collect any identifiable personal information from the users. In the event any such information is voluntarily provided by any user for availing any services such as the listing of service providers, reasonable security practice would be practiced as required in Indian law to protect the privacy of information. Such information will be collected only with prior consent and used only for the purpose of listing the particulars on the website. The data collected does not consist of any sensitive personal data and no encryption is provided while the data is in storage.

The server used by the website may collect certain technical information that may include the IP address from which a user comes into the site, the referral website, the type of browser used etc. They are not considered relevant for Privacy.

Any dispute regarding the content may be settled subject to arbitration through www.odrglobal.in and are subject to legal jurisdiction in Bangalore, India.

Any notice regarding the content may be sent to naavi9 at gmail. com

Naavi